Spell list

LV0 SPELLS

Minor levitation (Abjuration)

You make a small object levitate around you.

Sound manipulation (Alteration)

Choose a target. For a few minutes, the sounds the target makes become louder or softer, as you choose.

Dancing lights (Conjuration)

You summon up to four lights. Each light can follow you, follow a target, or move in a direction you choose. Together, they are as bright as a torch. A light winks out if it moves too far away from you.

Message (Divination)

You mentally send a short message to a nearby willing person.

Rouse (Enchantment)

You instantly wake a creature from natural sleep or briefly restore their awareness, shaking off momentary distraction.

Blur (Illusion)

You make a small object blurry and semi-transparent. In this way, some of its traits are obscured, and the object becomes more difficult to see.

Call of the tombs (Necromancy)

You may concentrate to sense if someone has died recently in a location, hearing the faint laments of their departing soul.

LV1 SPELLS

Identify (Abjuration)

You analyze the flow of mana in an object you can touch to determine whether it is imbued with magic. You sense whether it is cursed or enchanted, whether it requires attunement, and how many users have left a mark on it.

Alarm (Abjuration)

The area you trace as you cast this spell becomes warded. You instantly know if a creature enters the area without speaking a password you have set.

Here! (Abjuration)

You call a small non-magical object you can see into your hand.

Flame trick (Alteration)

You change the intensity of an existing flame, making it bigger or smaller.

Lights out (Alteration)

You extinguish all lights in the area.

Alter writing (Alteration)

You spend a few minutes to alter a magical or mundane writing.

Minor flame (Conjuration)

You snap your fingers, and a small flame appears above your hand. It extinguishes when you release the gesture.

Grease (Conjuration)

You cover a surface with a slippery layer that causes creatures moving across it to slip and fall.

Frost breath (Conjuration)

Your breath becomes as cold as ice, capable of freezing objects and surfaces.

Comprehend languages (Divination)

For one hour, you understand the literal meaning of any language you hear or read. This does not reveal hidden meanings or ciphers.

Locate object (Divination)

Think of an object. You sense the direction of the nearest instance of it. The farther it is, the weaker the sensation. If you hold a pointer (such as a compass, arrow, or forked twig), it turns toward the object. Specific items require a clear mental image.

Echoes of mana (Divination)

You concentrate on a location to determine whether a spell was cast or a ritual was performed there recently.

Mesmerism (Enchantment)

You fix a creature's attention on a repeating sound or a specific element. As long as it persists, the target remains mesmerized.

Intrusive thoughts (Enchantment)

You concentrate to flood the mind of a visible target with intrusive, confusing, and noisy thoughts. The target can sense the direction from which they originate.

Swaying sight (Enchantment)

A creature you can see begins to perceive the world as swaying and unstable, as if overcome by vertigo.

Minor illusion (Illusion)

You make a small object appear as something else, altering its appearance. The illusion is purely visual. If a creature interacts with it, they break the illusion.

Ventriloquism (Illusion)

You can change the tone of your voice and make it sound like it's coming from somewhere else (such as a statue or a dark corner).

False magic (Illusion)

You give a handheld item a magical aura of a school of your choice, masking any weaker aura it may possess.

Feign death (Necromancy)

You place a willing target into a cataleptic state indistinguishable from death. They can hear and smell but cannot move, see, or feel. The spell ends after a few hours or when released.

Sensory Inhibition (Necromancy)

As long as you maintain concentration on a target, they lose one sense (such as sight or hearing).

Speak with dead (Necromancy)

You grant a corpse or skeleton the ability to speak. The spell ends when the conversation ends.

LV2 SPELLS

Runic trap (Abjuration)

You place a magical rune in an area. You can also mark yourself and chosen allies with the same rune. When a creature that isn't marked enters the area, the rune triggers a small magical explosion.

Animate rope (Abjuration)

You manipulate the flow of mana within a rope or rope-like object. As long as you maintain concentration, you can move it freely.

Mana missile (Abjuration)

You fire a small, precise missile of mana that is unaffected by natural forces (such as wind or gravity) and stops upon hitting the first target.

Fluid shaping (Alteration)

You alter the properties of a fluid (including air) for a few minutes. You can make it denser, lighter, more viscous, or more elastic.

Control liquids (Alteration)

You control and shape a body of liquid, directing its movement at will.

Ground shield (Alteration)

You shape the ground beneath you into a protective barrier. Its form (wall, dome, etc.) depends on your will and the nature of the terrain.

Elemental ray (Conjuration)

You project a ray of elemental energy from your hand. As long as you sustain it, you can redirect the beam, but it gradually weakens.

Elemental wall (Conjuration)

You conjure a wall of elemental matter. You decide its shape and size; the larger it is, the more fragile it becomes. You may dismiss it at any time.

Shared channel (Divination)

All participants in a circle holding hands enter a shared mental channel, allowing telepathic communication. The connection lasts about an hour but may break under strong emotional distress.

True form (Divination)

For a few minutes, you perceive the true nature of creatures and objects. Invisible beings appear as faint, transparent outlines.

Find the path (Divination)

Choose a specific location. You perceive all possible paths leading to it, instinctively sensing which are shorter or longer.

Memory erosion (Enchantment)

You cause a target to forget something you know they are aware of.

Sleep (Enchantment)

Creatures fall into a deep sleep, starting with the weakest. Slapping or injury awakens them immediately, but loud noise does not. They awaken naturally after a short time.

Tell the truth! (Enchantment)

You compel a target that understands you to answer a question truthfully and completely.

Invisibility (Illusion)

You turn a target - including its gear - invisible. The spell ends if it is released or after an hour.

Hallucinatory terrain (Illusion)

You create illusory terrain that hides the actual terrain. The illusion is purely visual. It has limited, preprogrammed motion. If a creature discovers the illusion, it persists but fades and becomes translucent for that creature.

Veil of darkness (Illusion)

You shroud the target in illusory darkness. They see nothing but blackness. Sudden, unexpected impacts may break the illusion.

Animate dead (Necromancy)

You raise nearby corpses and skeletons. They obey your simple verbal commands and serve you until destroyed.

Call the spirits (Necromancy)

You summon nearby spirits. Weaker ones obey your commands, while stronger ones may resist your control.

Black flame (Necromancy)

You conjure a black flame that emits no light. It withers what it consumes instead of burning it and cannot be extinguished by normal means. A thrown flame can spread. Releasing the spell extinguishes all such flames.

LV3 SPELLS

Repulsion (Abjuration)

You surround an object lighter than you with a repulsive force that pushes it away from nearby creatures.

Fly (Abjuration)

You grant the power of magical flight to willing creatures in a small area around you for less than an hour. They can fly freely.

Anti-magic zone (Abjuration)

You concentrate on blocking the flow of mana around you. As long as you maintain concentration, creatures cannot use magic (except divine magic) within the zone. The farther they are from you, the weaker the effect becomes.

Levitation (Alteration)

You concentrate on a large object or a creature to make it levitate. As long as you maintain concentration, you can move it freely through the air.

Resize (Alteration)

You resize a creature, making it larger or smaller. Everything it carries is resized as well.

Alter self (Alteration)

You alter your form, changing your shape or adding unnatural features. You gain the natural abilities of your new form (wings allow flight, gills allow breathing underwater, etc.). Your clothing and equipment reshape to match your form. After a few minutes, the effect begins to fade.

Fireball (Conjuration)

You hurl a large fireball from your hand in a direction you choose.

Freezing storm (Conjuration)

You conjure a powerful icy wind that slowly freezes everything in its path.

Chain lightning (Conjuration)

You release a powerful bolt of lightning from your pointed finger toward a target. The lightning arcs between nearby creatures and conductive surfaces. You are not immune to the effects of this spell.

What happened? (Divination)

You lay your hands on a target to perceive what it has recently experienced and seen..

Remote knowledge (Divination)

You place a hidden rune on a surface you can see and choose a sense (sight, hearing, etc.). As long as the rune remains, you perceive the world through that sense at its location.

Mind reading (Divination)

You concentrate on a nearby creature. As long as you maintain concentration, you perceive its thoughts in the language it thinks in.

Truth zone (Enchantment)

You concentrate on creating a truth zone around you. As long as you maintain concentration, whenever a creature within it tells a lie, you sense it.

Mass confusion (Enchantment)

You cause confusion in a group of creatures, making them hesitate, wander aimlessly, and occasionally mistake friend for foe.

Eye of medusa (Enchantment)

You freeze several targets in place, making their bodies feel like stone. They cannot move or speak. A creature breaks free if it is moved or when the spell ends. The effect weakens over time.

Major illusion (Illusion)

You create a false projection of a creature or object. It can produce sound but is intangible. As long as you maintain concentration, you can manipulate it. It fades when you lose concentration.

No longer here! (Illusion)

You become invisible and leave behind a false projection of yourself. If you were performing an action (such as running), the illusion continues it as long as possible.

Disguise (Illusion)

You disguise the appearance of yourself or a target creature or object. The illusion follows the target's movements and changes. The spell ends when released or when someone interacts with it and breaks the illusion.

Control undead (Necromancy)

You take control of several nearby undead. They follow your verbal commands like your other servants.

Enervation (Necromancy)

A black bolt of crackling energy shoots from your finger, suppressing a target's life force. A weak creature may be slain outright, while a stronger one is greatly weakened.

Soul link (Necromancy)

The souls of two targets become linked. When one experiences something, physically or emotionally, the other experiences it as well. The spell lasts for days, until one of them dies or you release it.

LV4 SPELLS

Teleport (Abjuration)

You teleport yourself and anyone touching you--including all your gear--to a known, unoccupied destination.

Mana overload (Abjuration)

You condense the mana around you so intensely that it collapses, generating powerful bursts of raw mana.

Sudden explosion (Alteration)

You alter the intensity of a spark, expanding it into a massive explosion or reducing a large explosion back to a spark.

Alter gravity (Alteration)

You alter the gravity in a room-sized area, making it heavier, null, or anything in between. The effect does not affect you. You can release the spell at will.

Death fog (Conjuration)

You create a stationary bank of thick, acidic fog that corrodes everything it touches and kills vegetation. The fog disperses after a few minutes.

Meteor storm (Conjuration)

Several meteors begin falling from the sky above a target you can see. They are not very precise.

Tsunami (Conjuration)

You conjure a massive wave of water from your hand, surging forward with immense force. The tsunami fully manifests after a minute. You cannot release the spell earlier.

Vision of the future (Divination)

You lay your hands on a target and perceive a vision of its near future.

The third eye (Divination)

You cause yourself or a nearby willing target to open a third eye, perceiving the world as it truly is. Hidden secrets are revealed, and altered forms appear in their original state. Losing mental clarity—even briefly—causes the third eye to close.

Demonic presence (Enchantment)

Every hostile creature around you perceives you as a terrifying and powerful being. The effect ends after a few minutes or if something reveals your weakness.

Domination (Enchantment)

You impose your will on an unwilling target. They obey your telepathic commands, but may resist orders that would harm them or go against their nature.

Theatre (Illusion)

You create multiple connected illusions, or a single one of enormous size. You concentrate on them. As long as you maintain concentration, you can manipulate them and make them interact. When you lose concentration, they begin to fade.

Permanent illusion (Illusion)

You create a permanent illusion. It can affect sight, sound, smell, and temperature. It has limited, preprogrammed motion. The spell ends if released or if a creature discovers it and breaks the illusion.

Finger of death (Necromancy)

Your hand takes on a skeletal aspect. When you touch a target with it, you attempt to tear its soul from its body. If the soul resists, the target suffers withering wounds where you touched it.

Life and death (Necromancy)

You concentrate on releasing necrotic energy in an area, causing vegetation and living creatures to wither or revive. As long as you maintain concentration, a number of target creatures wither while an equal number are rejuvenated and healed. You can change the affected targets at any time. When you lose concentration, the spell ends.
